

FEES WAIVED FOR MATERIALS LOST AS A RESULT OF THE WILDFIRES

San Diego County Library (SDCL) will waive fines on library materials that could not be returned during the wildfires. The library will also be replacing lost cards for fire victims for free.

If you have lost materials due to the catastrophe, please bring copies of the following information to any SDCL branch, so that staff may assist you:

- Wildfire-related documentation Issued by the following agencies:
  - Red Cross
  - Your homeowner's or renter's insurance policy
  - FEMA
    - Documentation is usually in the form of a FEMA card and number.
  - County of San Diego Fire Victim Assistant Card
- Your Address Information:
  - The home address where the loss of library materials occurred
  - Your current home address

SDCL is legally required to file a claim with the County of San Diego's Risk Management department for all library materials lost during the wildfires. This will enable the library to recoup financial losses due to the loss of the destroyed materials.

Library staff will work with customers who are fire victims to make sure customers' accounts are handled as quickly as possible.

If you have questions or need further assistance, please contact San Diego County Library's Circulation Services division at (858) 505-6353.
